

Manchester Life Sciences PhD Conference - 2015

The University of Manchester postgraduate society will be hosting its annual 'Life Sciences' PhD conference on 8th May 2015.

Registration is free!

The student-led interdisciplinary conference provides an opportunity for PhD students to present their research in a friendly and stimulating environment. Last year's conference was attended by around 300 PhD students across the country and as far away as Italy, Norway and the Netherlands:

www.pgrconference.ls.manchester.ac.uk/programme

Industrial Biotechnology and Bioenergy - Invitation for DTP students

The BBSRC-funded Manchester DTP would like to invite students from other BBSRC DTPs across the UK to attend a session specifically aimed at students with projects within the BBSRC priority area 'IBB' (Industrial Biotechnology and Bioenergy). The aim is to provide an informal networking opportunity to develop ideas and contacts within this theme.

If you are a BBSRC DTP student, with a project in the IBB area, and you are interested in attending the conference please could you email Vanessa Haves (vanessa.haves@manchester.ac.uk) to indicate which presentation option you would prefer:

- a) Round-table Workshop Session
- b) Poster
- c) 10 minute Talk
- d) 3 minute 'Flash Talk' Session

Please Note: that this is an open invitation to all PhD and DTP Life Sciences students from your institution, as there will be talks and poster sessions across all disciplines and fields of Life Sciences.

Registration is now open for the conference. To register for the general programme follow this link:
<https://survey.ls.manchester.ac.uk/TakeSurvey.aspx?SurveyID=m6LJ355M>

Please direct any general enquiries regarding the conference to: flsconference@gmail.com